

11. Often called the cat with the patent leather coat, the Bombay is a relatively new breed. It is a cross between an American Short-hair and a Burmese. This cat is black with very fine short hair that gives it a silken look. The body is medium size, the head round with wide-set eyes and ears.